GRANDSON OF DUKE OF WELLINGTON
MAY ASK UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP

Lord George Wellesley and Lady Wellesley.

But George's trip to America was undertaken mainly with another object in view—to marry Lady Louise Neta Pamela Wellesley.

She is the widow of his elder brother, Richard, killed at the first battle of Ypres.

British law does not permit a man to wed the widow of his brother.

There is no such restriction in America. So the wedding was held in New York.

British law does not recognize such a marriage as legal. So Lord and Lady Wellesley expect to live in this country.

Lady Wellesley is a daughter of Sir Maurice Fitzgerald, knight of Kerry.

Lord Wellesley was one of the first British aviators to reach France, and has flown over France, Belgium and Egypt. He is 35, and wears three decorations—the military cross, the 1914 star and the Royal Humane society's medal for saving life.

He is lieutenant-colonel in the British flying corps.

His father is the present Duke of Wellington. Lord George is the youngest son.

He is attached to the New York office of the royal air force.

WAR REVIEW TERSELY GIVEN BY THE TWO LEADING NEWS SERVICES

(International News Service.)

Offensive operations by the Italians and the French in Southern Albania (the extreme western tip of the Balkan front) are taking on added importance as new developments establish the extent of the campaign.

British naval forces are co-operating with the allied troops on the land and the fact that the Italians are using bodies of cavalry indicate that they expect to make great progress before the attacks cease.

The probable objective of the allies is to break the hold of the Austro-Hungarian troops upon the Adriatic coast, so as to give room for wide flanking operations eastward.

But the country in which the fighting is in progress is difficult for an uninterrupted campaign. It is a bleak, desolate mountain waste, crossed by many mountain torrents. The roads are few, steep and poorly constructed, making it difficult for transportation of artillery and supplies and the movement of troops.

The Austro-Hungarian battle line in Albania rests upon the coast between the Vovusa river and the Semer river in the district of Fier, which is now in the hands of Franco-Italian troops.

As a result of the long toll in the war, the Macedonian front is quite likely that, when the allies begin to attack, they found the Teutonic positions lightly held. However, the advantages are all with the defenders as they hold high mountain positions, and in those in north Italy, and have been able to fortify them very strongly during the past year of inactivity.

If the allied offensive continues with such success as marked its initial phase, Austria doubtless will call upon Germany, Bulgaria and Turkey for aid.

Most of the German troops were withdrawn from the Balkan front a year ago and the line has been held chiefly by Austrians and Bulgarians with a handful of Turks.

There were only minor infantry actions and bombardments on the battle line in France during the past twenty-four hours.

The British improved their position in the Marris sector of the Flanders front and the French carried out some successful raids.

German artillery continued to concentrate its fire in the Villers-Bretonneux sector of the Picardy front.

There is a renewal of the reports that the allies may intervene in Russia, but there has been no decisive step in this direction. Much depends upon the developments following the assassination of the German ambassador at Moscow, Gen. Count von Mirbach.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON U. S. SECTORS IS EXPECTED

(Associated Press.)

With the American Army on the Marne, July 10.—(By Associated Press.)—The fronts west and east of Chateau-Thierry, where American troops hold positions, have been unusually quiet, but it is believed that heavy fighting may break loose at any moment.

Last night the enemy artillery fire was far below normal. The American gunners maintained an intermittent bombardment of the enemy lines, especially in the direction of Hill 204, west of Chateau-Thierry.

In an attack against the new French positions in the Longpont region, south of the Aisne, the Germans have failed to advance. The enemy has made no attempt to recoup the losses sustained in the French forward movement southwest of Noyon, in which the Germans lost 530 prisoners and 30 machine guns. The weather on the British front has been rainy and unfavorable.

Berlin continues to report officially that all allied efforts are being repulsed. Allied patrol actions are made to appear as attacks and allied attacks as small raids. Claim is made by the German command that "successful local engagements" have been fought west of Chateau-Thierry, where the American and French hold the line northwestward toward the Rets forest east of Villers-Cotterets. Allied communiques make no mention of any fighting there.

Franco-Italian successes in Albania apparently threaten seriously the Austro-Hungarian situation in central Albania. The French are making good gains in eastern Albania west of Lake Ochrida, while the Italians are advancing steadily in the west. The Austrian line appears to be V-shaped, with the allies pressing hard on both flanks and the point of the salient being near Berat. An Austrian retirement of any moment would probably compel the Bulgarians to rearrange their lines in Macedonia east of Lake Ochrida. A new provisional government for Serbia has been set up in Vladivostok, now in control of Czech-Slovak forces. It will oppose the central powers. The new government is reported to have the support of the population.

PART OF CREW LANDED

From an American Schooner

Aground Off Uruguay.

(Associated Press.)

Montevideo, Uruguay, July 10.—Part of the crew of the American three-masted schooner Adella T. Carlton, which went aground Saturday near La Paloma, was landed today by a government tug. The captain of the tug reported there were no deaths among the crew, but that several men had been left on the island of Flores ill from exposure, in open lifeboats and the winter seas.

The Adella T. Carlton was built at Rockport, Me., in 1892. She is 247 feet in length.

"HELPLESS" RUSSIA

PUZZLES FRENCH

(Copyright, 1918, by New York World.)

Paris.—There has been considerable discussion in the French press as to the translation of the meaning of a word in President Wilson's speech at Mount Vernon. The word is "helpless" as applying to Russia.

When the text of the speech arrived here this word was interpreted as meaning no help could be given Russia. Later an official translation interpreted the word as meaning without help. The latter says it has received many letters from influential persons familiar with the French and English languages that they take the word to mean short of power to help herself.

The paper adds this would signify that in the mind of President Wilson Russia is incapable of finding herself to pull her out of her difficult situation, that she must wait for help from the outside.

SELECTMEN LEAVE TO TUNE OF "WE'LL HANG KAISER"

Cigarettes, a bag of fruit, a hearty handshake and "So long, boys, I wish you well—God bless you!" This was the thirty-four selectmen who departed Tuesday night from county boards Nos. 1 and 2 for Camp Gordon.

Some forty members of the Kiwanis club were on hand to see the boys off. The departing men were in excellent spirits. When the chorus of the Kiwanis club struck up "We'll Hang the Kaiser to a Sour Apple Tree" everybody in the station held the cheering.

number of selectmen from Knoxville and Athens, Ala., came up to the song and the kaiser was still hanging to a sour apple tree when the recruit train pulled out of the station on its way to a realization of the song.

MAXWELL EVANS TO TEACH MILITARY DRILL AT U. C.

Recommended by University to Attend Training Camp to This End.

Maxwell Evans, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Evans, of Chattanooga, will leave for Chicago shortly to attend a sixty days' military training camp for college students. He was appointed from the University of Chattanooga, where he was a popular student last year. He will receive intensive training for sixty days, at the end of which time he will return to Chattanooga and begin giving military instruction at the university. The camp opens July 15.

The government is seeking to put military instruction in practically every college in the United States next year, and to this end it is holding the summer training camps for students.

The name of the man who will be detailed by the war department to give military instruction at the University of Chattanooga has not yet been named. Correspondence is going on between school officials and the government in an attempt to place the local institution in the ranks of accredited reserve officers' training corps institutions. At present there is but one such school in the state, the University of Tennessee. Vanderbilt is attempting to get on the government list also.

T. C. BETTERTON'S HOME ON WALDEN'S RIDGE BURNS

The summer home of Commissioner T. C. Betterton on Walden's ridge was burned to the ground, with practically all its contents, Tuesday night. The loss was estimated by Mr. Betterton to be between $4,000 and $5,000 and was partially covered by insurance.

The fire started from sparks which fell on the roof. The night being rather cool, a fire was started, from which the blaze was supposed to have originated.

The only things saved were some relics which have been in the family for many years and are considered as heirlooms.

German propagandists are showing increased activity in Denmark. In addition to the widespread circulation of pro-German pamphlets, six new weekly or monthly newspapers have been started in the last few months to promote German interests.

Austrian prisoners of war are being employed by the Italian government in excavation work. A party has been for some time busy at Veli, on the site of a temple of the sixth century B. C., near the castle of Isola Farnese.

The Germans have carried off the printing presses, linotypes and other machinery of the Belgian daily paper Le Patriote and sold them to the publishers of German reviews. Le Patriote has not been published during the war.

Numerous marriages are reported from Switzerland between British prisoners in the internment camps and Swiss girls.

Cavallini, former Italian deputy, whose name was connected with the Boicott trial, has been proposed by the Italian government on a charge of treason.

Over 10,000 men from Canadian banks have enlisted in the expeditionary army.

Germany is negotiating with the Chilean government regarding the chartering of German steamers in Chilean ports.

According to the Echo de Paris, the recent visit of the French commission to the Mediterranean ports released for mercantile use twelve vessels of a total of 100,000 tons.

UNIVERSITY THROWS OPEN DOORS TO SOLDIERS

Here Is an Opportunity for the Doctor to Study Science and Do Laboratory Work.

In line with the patriotic policy which it has always followed, the University of Chattanooga has thrown open its doors to the soldiers at Chickamauga park. The institution now houses the activities of the medical officers' training camp in all work in anatomy and dissection. The science building of the school has been put at the disposal of the officers at the camp by President Hixson and work opened Monday morning.

The students arrive in the morning and receive instruction all day. All the laboratory materials in the department of anatomy and physiology are at the disposal of the army authorities, together with the lecture and dissection rooms.

The action by President Hixson is one most beneficial to the army physicians at Camp Greenleaf, as the laboratory materials and instruments are of the very highest type and of such a nature that it is difficult to duplicate them at present.

JOE HOGE, SON OF CITY HEALTH OFFICER, GOES TO GORDON

Joe Hoge, son of F. J. Hoge, of the city health department, left at 2:15 Wednesday for Camp Gordon, Ga. Young Hoge was made captain of the five selectmen who went from city board No. 1. Mr. Hoge has been connected with Clements Bros. for the past ten years as shipping clerk.

BOMB VICTIM

This pretty little French girl, "Valentine," is a soldier's bride of two months. Valentine is the maid in the house which was the headquarters where Mrs. Pauline Sands Lee, an American woman working in Paris for the American fund for French wounded, had her headquarters.

Mrs. Lee left one night and returned the next day to find the house in ruins. Valentine was searching among the ruins for traces of her trousseau, for the bomb left her destitute.

STANTON BARRETT OFF TO DON THE OLIVE DRAB

City Bacteriologist Resigns to Accept Commission—Place to Be Left Open.

Dr. Stanton Barrett, city bacteriologist, has resigned his position to accept a commission as first lieutenant with the United States medical reserve corps. Dr. Barrett will leave the city July 18 for Camp Umphries, Virginia, where he will report for active duty. He has been assigned to the laboratory corps.

It is not thought that the commissioner of education and health, H. D. Huffaker, will appoint a successor to Dr. Barrett, but that he will hold the place vacant temporarily.

As an appreciation of Dr. Barrett's faithful and most efficient work while connected with the city health department, the department presented him with a military wrist watch. In speaking of the doctor's connection with the department, Commissioner Huffaker stated before presenting him with the watch Tuesday afternoon on behalf of the department, that he could not accept his resignation, but that he would grant him a leave of absence for the duration of the war, and requested that he return to the service after the allies had defeated the world-wide enemy.

A singular incident connected with Dr. Barrett's going to Washington is that Dr. Emma Wheat Gilmore, Hugh Huffaker and Dr. Barrett, who were on duty in Chattanooga sixty days ago, will all be located within thirty miles of each other. Dr. Gilmore was stationed here with the United States public health service when she was called to Washington, and Hugh Huffaker, the son of Commissioner Huffaker, is at Annapolis. Dr. Barrett will be located about twenty miles from Washington.

Scoreboard Reflections

Larry Cheney wild-pitched the Cardinals a victory over Brooklyn. Of course Cheney was pitching for the Dodgers. He made five wild throws.

Hitting .368, Tyus Raymond Cobb is "way out in front" for the American league batting honors.

The Pirates have fought their way into third place. Eleven hits off Hillingim gave another victory over the Braves.

The Red Sox have increased the gap between first and second places by trimming Cleveland. Mayer's single scoring Truettale won for the Indians in twelve innings.

The Tigers and Athletics broke even in a bargain bill. Vean Gregg won another game for the Mackmen.

The Yanks and White Sox divided a double-header. Benx stopped the Huguenots after Danforth and Clotte had failed in the first game.

Jim Thorpe's homer gave the Giants a victory over the Cubs in their final game in Chicago.

The Browns defeated the Senators in the ninth, when Ray Demmitt tripled with two men on the cushions.
